2.0 REGIONAL OVERVIEW	17
Passenger car and LCV data	17
New car and LCV sales to individuals	17
Sales of new cars and LCVs rose consistently across the region between 2013 and 2017	17
... and LCVs represent a significant proportion of total vehicle sales to individuals in some countries	17
Used car and LCV sales	20
Sales of used vehicles have been growing most rapidly in China and the Philippines	20
Sales by manufacturer groups	22
Across the region, Toyota is the leading manufacturer group but even its share of sales is only 13.5%	22
... in part as a consequence of the fragmented Chinese market	22
Motor insurance	25
Survey of automotive dealers	25
Across the Asia-Pacific region, over 90% of dealers act as distributors of motor insurance	25
...and this figure reaches 100% in four of the 12 countries investigated	25
Dealer usage of tied and non-tied insurance providers varies greatly by country	26
Three quarters of dealers use non-tied motor insurance providers, either on their own or with tied ones	28
Where offered, take-up rates for motor insurance with new vehicles exceed 70% in ten countries	30
Motor insurance is more likely to be bought with new vehicles than with used vehicles in all but one country	31
Types of motor insurance policy sold by dealers	35

MANUFACTURER-BRANDED AND DEALER-INTERMEDIATED MOTOR INSURANCE AND ROAD ASSISTANCE IN THE ASIA-PACIFIC REGION

In most countries, dealers selling motor insurance can offer liability or damage cover separately	35
Manufacturer brand survey results	36
Almost all manufacturer brands have an endorsed scheme in the Taiwan and Thailand	36
...but few do so in Hong Kong	36
A majority of manufacturer brands source motor insurance from a panel of external underwriters	37
Market size	40
China accounts for most of the value of motor insurance sold through the automotive trade	40
...followed by Japan, India, South Korea and Thailand	40
The automotive trade is most important as a distribution channel for motor insurance in Vietnam	43
...but is much less important in South Korea	43
Competitor dynamics	45
The top 15 motor insurance providers together claim a weighted share of partnerships in excess of 80%	45
...and 12 of these operate solely in China	45
Road assistance.....	47
Survey of automotive dealers.....	47
Road assistance is provided automatically with the vast majority of cars sold through dealers	47
Dealers sometimes work with multiple providers of road assistance	49
... albeit most of these are tied to manufacturer brands (or their importers)	49
Over 80% of dealers use tied road assistance providers, either on their own or with non-tied ones	51
Virtually all buyers of new vehicles receive road assistance automatically in some countries	53
...and free provision with used vehicles is also widespread in a number of countries	54
Sources of road assistance distributed by dealers	59
Road assistance can be acquired in several ways in addition to factory warranties	59
...including with motor insurance, extended warranties and prepaid service contracts	59
...and as a stand-alone contract available through a minority of dealers	59
Manufacturer brand survey results	61
A majority of brands operate road assistance schemes in all countries apart from the Philippines	61
A majority of manufacturer brands operate their road assistance programs on an internal basis	62
Market value.....	65
The value of the market for road assistance distributed via the automotive trade is close to USD 2 billion	65
... and is boosted by the considerable size of this sector in China	65
Competitor dynamics	69
JAF's dominant position in the Japanese market causes it to emerge as the regional market leader	69
... followed by Allianz Global Assistance thanks to its activity in five countries	69
