0.0 EXECUTIVE SUMMARY	1
Research background and structure	2
Life insurance distribution is concentrated on a few types of partner, especially financial ones	2
At-retirement products are dominated by annuities, except for building societies selling equity release.....	3
External financial advisers are more important than single ties with life offices for life insurance.....	3
... although many online aggregators prefer these to be non-advised intermediaries	3
Aviva has the most relationships for pensions, although Legal & General catches up through tied agents.....	3
Operating models incorporating ‘open architecture’ make most sense for life insurance and annuities.....	4
... but regulatory reform may reduce the role of affinity and corporate partners in pensions and financial advice.....	4
1.0 INTRODUCTION	5
Rationale	6
The channels used to distribute financial products and services in the UK continue to proliferate.....	6

Definitions	11
2.0 MARKET OVERVIEW	13
Introduction	14
Four main types of product and service are covered by this report.....	14
Life insurance is the most common form of these products to be offered through partnerships	14
Affinities and partnerships in UK life insurance	16
Almost two thirds of life insurance offers originate from six categories of partner... ..	16
.. joined by financial partners when measured by the highest proportion offering life insurance	16
External financial intermediaries are the most commonly used operating model.....	18
Legal & General and Aviva are the most prolific life offices in terms of number of partnerships... ..	18
... with Parliament Hill and HMCA leading among benefits managers for life insurance.....	18
Other leading intermediaries are made up of four IFAs and one broker	19
Affinities and partnerships in UK pensions	20
Pensions distribution is strongest when linked to employment as is the case with trade unions.....	20
The supply structure for pension partnerships is extremely fragmented.....	22
Aviva is the leading provider, mainly thanks to its links with banks and building societies.....	22
... while no single IFA possesses more than four affinity or corporate partner relationships.....	22
Affinities and partnerships in UK at-retirement products	24
At-retirement products are the rarest type of product to be offered by partnerships in this report... ..	24
... and are often provided as annuities or equity release by trade unions and building societies.....	24
The use of single partners is rare for at-retirement products.....	26
Key Retirement Solutions is the leading product provider used for equity release.....	27

Affinities and partnerships in UK financial advice	28
Financial advice is concentrated among five categories of partner, led by building societies.....	28
... and just three insurers predominate among tied and captive tied advisers	30
Skipton Financial Services provides financial advice for three other building societies.....	30
3.0 NOT-FOR-PROFIT AFFINITY GROUPS	32
3.1 Charities	33
Introduction	33
Analysis of partnerships	33
Few charities have a partnership for life insurance solely to generate additional revenue	33
More charities could offer at-retirement products or general financial advice	35
3.2 Lifestyle organisations	36
Introduction	36
Analysis of partnerships	36
Partnerships could be tailored to suit lifestyle organisations with specific demographic profiles	36
3.3 Political parties	38
Introduction	38
3.4 Professional associations	39
Introduction	39
28 professional associations possess in excess of 30,000 individual members.....	39
Analysis of partnerships	41
Life insurance is promoted by nearly a third of professional associations.....	41
... although enthusiasm is much weaker for pensions and at-retirement products.....	42
IFAs have formed links with some of the largest - and wealthiest - professional associations	44
3.5 Sports organisations	45
Introduction	45
Opportunities exist for more high risk sports organisations to offer life insurance... ..	45
... or to add it to a package of member benefits.....	45
3.6 Trade associations	47
Introduction	47
Analysis of partnerships	50
HMCA is the leading intermediary for life insurance among trade associations	50
The government's 'Nest' pension may make new trade association schemes unnecessary.....	51
... but the shift away from defined benefit pensions creates more activity at retirement.....	52
Financial advice is provided by a number of IFAs - no single IFA has targeted this channel	53
3.7 Trade unions	54
Introduction	54
Analysis of partnerships	56
A majority of trade unions offer life insurance to their members.....	56
... with no clear leader among providers for this product.....	56
Pensions, at-retirement products and financial advice are offered by the same partners.....	58
... with a few exceptions	58
3.8 Universities	60
Introduction	60
4.0 FINANCIAL PARTNERS	61
4.1 Banks	62
Introduction	62
Analysis of partnerships	63
Among banks, captives are the most important operating model for life insurance	63
Over 50s insurance is provided by a second insurance partner in three instances.....	63
The pension providers used by banks are frequently different from life insurance partners	65

For at-retirement products, banks concentrate on annuities	66
Most banks have internal IFAs for financial advice, although a few are not 'whole of market'	67
4.2 Building societies	68
Introduction	68
Analysis of partnerships	68
Life insurance is not offered as frequently as financial advice	68
Legal & General and Aviva dominate single partnerships with building societies	68
... with the former having boosted its position through the introduction of OLP Connect in 2009	69
Pensions fall outside the distribution remit of most building societies	70
Many building societies offer equity release mortgages - but as an intermediary not a lender	70
Nearly half of societies' financial advice is tied to one provider	72
... and depolarization has not been of interest to building societies	72
4.3 Credit unions	74
Introduction	74
Analysis of partnerships	75
CUNA Mutual and Aviva are the only life insurance providers used by credit unions	75
Retirement products and financial advice fall outside the scope of credit unions	76
4.4 Friendly societies	77
Introduction	77
Analysis of partnerships	79
Only one friendly society has an external partnership for life insurance	79
... and none at all have partnerships for retirement products or financial advice	79
4.5 Insurance companies	80
Introduction	80
Analysis of partnerships	81
Five non-life and 'zombie' insurers operate a partnership model for life insurance	81
... dropping to just one for retirement products	82
The industry has split between providers and distributors with the decline of direct sales forces	82
4.6 Online aggregators and brokers	83
Introduction	83
Analysis of partnerships	83
Most online aggregators and brokers offer life insurance through external partners	83
... and major aggregators prefer brokers to IFAs, to simplify the sales process	83
... although two aggregators have chosen to link directly with a single life office	84
Pensions are offered rarely by online aggregators and brokers	85
Annuities are suited to aggregators by pricing structure, but not by sales process	86
Financial advice is only offered through two online aggregation sites	87
4.7 Packaged accounts and payment cards	88
Introduction	88
4.8 Pawnbrokers, cheque cashers and providers of foreign exchange and remittance services	89
Introduction	89
Neither demographics nor the transactional nature of these entities' activities suit these products	89
4.9 Specialized lenders	90
Analysis of partnerships	91
Only one of these lenders offers life insurance, but not retirement products or financial advice	91
5.0 COMMERCIAL ENTITIES	92
5.1 Airlines	93
Introduction	93
5.2 Automotive associations	94
Introduction	94

Analysis of partnerships	95
CSMA Club has taken the broadest approach to personal financial services	95
5.3 Automotive dealers, repair shops and supermarkets.....	96
Introduction	96
A couple of partners have expanded beyond motor insurance - but not to life and pensions	96
5.4 Automotive manufacturers.....	97
Introduction	97
A demographic overlap exists between prestige marques and long-term insurance products.....	97
5.5 Estate agents	98
Introduction	98
Analysis of partnerships	98
Legal & General has the most relationships, but Friends Provident works with the largest firm.....	98
Captive IFAs fragment the market, and only one IFA has more than one partnership	98
Equity release is a house-related product that may have potential for certain estate agents	100
5.6 Football clubs	101
Introduction	101
Analysis of partnerships	101
Clubs' multi-product financial services divisions have closed after a brief existence.....	101
... leaving two relationships with external IFAs in place.....	101
5.7 Internet, media and telecoms entities.....	103
Introduction	103
Analysis of partnerships	103
Brokers and IFAs share life insurance partnerships among media, Internet and telecoms entities.....	103
.....	103
... but partnerships change for pensions	105
AEGON Direct joins the ranks of competing partners for at-retirement products	106
The relationships change once again for general financial advice	107
5.8 Online price comparison providers.....	108
Introduction	108
Analysis of partnerships	109
Price comparison sites have established partnerships for life insurance only	109
5.9 Retailers	110
Introduction	110
Analysis of partnerships	110
Some retailers promote life insurance but not retirement products or financial advice... ..	110
... but even this has been a 'brand stretch' too far for several smaller brands	110
Tesco's deal with Friends Provident is based on a simple, speedy application and quote process.....	111
.....	111
5.10 Travel companies.....	112
Introduction	112
5.11 Utilities companies.....	113
Introduction	113
Utility companies could not sell household insurance, so life and pensions are far out of reach....	113
5.12 Other commercial entities.....	114
Introduction	114
Branded conglomerates.....	114
Four diverse organisations are now classified as 'branded conglomerates'	114
... with Virgin planning an ambitious expansion of its financial services activities.....	114
easyGroup is the only branded conglomerate not active in this area.....	114
... while Saga could conceivably add an over 50s policy to its product portfolio	115
Loyalty schemes.....	116
The loyalty schemes category includes programs based around leisure, shopping and travel.....	116
AIRMILES, ipoints and Nectar have very different profiles and histories	116
Life insurance is the only feasible product that loyalty schemes could consider offering	116

The Post Office	117
The Post Office distributes life insurance, but not stakeholder pensions	117
